Psychology Partnerships
Community Interest Company
Inclusive, not exclusive

About Psychology Partnerships CIC

Psychology Partnerships is a community interest company specialising in the provision of psychological services to people who might otherwise have difficulty accessing services or fall through gaps in service provision.

We are a not-for-profit social enterprise organisation. As such we aim to involve our stakeholders as far as possible in deciding how our services should be delivered and how our financial surplus should be used.

As a community interest company we have had to pass the community interest test. A copy of our community interest statement can be downloaded from our website at www.psychologypartnerships.co.uk

Further information about community interest companies can be found at www.cicregulator.gov.uk

We aim to be inclusive, flexible, responsive and cost efficient. We are not restricted by inflexible service criteria. If our team of psychologists is unable to provide services we will endeavour to find another appropriate service to meet the needs of anyone referred to us.

Services for individuals

The services we provide to individuals include assessment, treatment and intervention. We specialise in referrals for people who fall broadly into a group that might be considered as having an intellectual disability.

Issues we can help with include:

Challenging behaviour

Sexually inappropriate behaviour

Depression

Anxiety

Child protection

Mental capacity

Offending behaviour

Parenting

Risk assessment and management

Vulnerable adults

Giving evidence in court,
whether as a victim or accused

Services for providers and carers

We specialise in providing support in the form of training and consultancy to providers and carers for people with learning disabilities/intellectual disabilities.

In addition, we can provide training and supervision to other professional disciplines and psychologists.

Further news and training events are detailed on our website.
